

— Q and A about Lumpia

By: Keilani Flores

Table of Contents

-What is Lumpia?.....	2
-How to make Lumpia.....	3
-Is this a good or a service?.....	4
-Glossary.....	5
-References.....	6
-About the Author.....	7

Q-What is Lumpia?

A-Lumpia is a Filipino eggroll that was originated in China but now popular in the Philippines and Guam. Inside it has...

- ground beef
- ground pork
- chopped carrots
- chopped onions, and
- salt and pepper

Q-How is Lumpia made?

Ingredients: ground beef and pork, egg roll wrapper, chopped onions and carrots, and salt and pepper. First, you mix everything except the wrapper. Then, put the wrapper on a flat surface and put a teaspoon of mix inside the wrapper. Fry.

Repeat all the other steps 10 times. (makes 10 Lumpias)

Most Filipino food is sweet so the way they make Lumpia sweet is that they use sweet and sour sauce.

Is Lumpia a good or a service?

Lumpia is a good, because you can hold, touch, and eat it. Also, it is a want, because it's more like a regular food than a need. But then again, there are vegetables which is a need.

FUN FACT!

Lumpia is as thick as your thumb, but as tall as your pinkie.

Glossary

-Good- (g-U-d) A good is something that you can hold or touch.

-Lumpia-(loom-pee-ah) Lumpia is a eggroll that was originated in China but now popular in Philippines and Guam.

-need-something you use to survive.

-Service- A service is action someone does for others.

-want-something that you don't really need.

References (source)

Website:guampedia lumpia

<http://www.guampedia.com/lumpia-filipino-eggrolls/>

Expert:Flolette Flores(my mom)

Book:What are Goods and Services? by Carolyn Andrews

About the Author: Keilani Flores

This is Keilani Flores. She really likes reading. Her mom and lola is Filipino and one of her favorite foods is Lumpia. And that's why she made this book!

